

2019 GIST Tech-I Competition for Entrepreneurial Support

The U.S State Department as part of its Global Innovation through Science and Technology (GIST) program, organizes a global pitching competition for entrepreneurs called the GIST Tech I competition. The competition this year is inviting application through 30th November, 2018. The competition is looking for ways to promote the opportunity for entrepreneurs in India.

Here is a brief write up on the program and the competition:

2019 GIST Tech-I Competition for Entrepreneurial Support – Applications Open!

The 2019 GIST Tech-I Competition offers young science and technology innovators and entrepreneurs an opportunity to compete for mentorship, training, and seed capital to advance their ventures. GIST, an initiative of the U.S. Department of State, seeks to identify and select, train, and encourage innovations by young scientists and great minds all over the world. Applications for the 2019 GIST Tech-I Competition will be accepted now through November 30, 2018. Applicants should submit responses to questions on their science or technology innovation along with a 90-second video explaining their idea or product/service at <http://bit.ly/TechI2019>
